POLICE AID ICE TRUST INQUIRY

State Detectives Put at Work on Investigation by Attorney-General.

COMPLAIN OF HIGH PRICES

The State-wide investigation of the Ice Trust was placed in the hands of the State Police today.

Attorney-General Swift today directed George C. Neal, deputy chief of the State police, to take charge of the probe, and Deputy Neal immediately assigned officers to the various sections of the State to work on the inquiry. The Attorney-General took this action following a long conference with Representative Martin Hays, father of the ice investigation legislative order.

Attorney-General Swift stated today that his desk is piled high with letters complaining of the methods used by the Ice Trust. He said he had received many replies to his own letters to the small ice dealers. He asked if they had any complaints to make against the big dealers.

The investigation is being made at the order of the House of Representatives, with the expenditure of all or any part of the sum of $5,000 approved for this purpose by Governor Foss and the Council. It is alleged that the big dealers have parceled off Boston and other large cities and town to their own liking and personal profit, in many instances under so-called "gentlemen's agreements."

These are alleged to be violations of the anti-trust laws. The Attorney-General says:

Through the AMERICAN'S publication of my request for information from the people concerning the ice situation, I have received already many responses which may prove to be of considerable value. I have, of course, started my investigation first in Boston, and will later extend it all over the Commonwealth.

The sum of $5,000 has just become available for this sort of work, through an act of the Legislature, which has within a few days received Governor Foss' signature. As soon as I learned of the passage of the order introduced by Representative Martin Hays I asked the consent of the Governor and Council to expend money for the ice probe, and that consent, required by the new law, has been granted.

Is there an Ice Trust? Judge for yourself. The AMERICAN prints today an expose of the way in which Boston and the surrounding towns and cities have been in most instances given over to the

PROBE SMITH DEATH ON EVE OF EXPOSURE

Announcement of over $35,000 shortage in the accounts of the late Fred H. Smith, bookkeeper for Middlesex House of Correction at East Cambridge for thirty-three years, raised the question today whether the death of Smith on March 31, last, on the eve of an official examination of his books, was from natural causes, as recorded, or whether he committed suicide in fear of exposure.

Smith was to be retired April 1 at the age of 64 on half of his annual salary of $1,500. His books were to be examined March 31 by Frank L. Dean, controller of Middlesex County accounts. That morning word was received at the jail that Smith had been taken suddenly ill at his lodgings, No. 83 Third street, East Cambridge, and that he had died in two hours. Much sympathy was expressed for the man who died just as he was to be pensioned after thirty-three years of supposedly honest service.

The Cambridge Board of Health records show that Smith's death certificate was filed by Dr. William H. Clancy, a physician of long practice in East Cambridge. Cuse of death was given as:

"Chronic interstitial nephritis and uraemia."

In common language these mean inflammation of the kidneys and bladder trouble. When the news of the shortage became known Dr. Clancy was sought to see if he could give any details of Smith's death, but the physician was out of his office.

Pulmotor Revives Woman Gas Victim

Proves Successful on First Trial in Chelsea.

A pulmotor operated by two policemen revived Mrs. Harriett A'Hern of Chelsea today after three physicians had failed to bring her back to consciousness. Mrs. A'Hern, who is thirty-four years old, was found unconscious in bed, gas escaping from a leaky pipe in her room at No. 9 George street, Chelsea.

Her landlady summoned Dr. E. S. Johnson, who tried emergency methods, and then had her removed to the hospital. Two physicians, Drs. Frank S. Garrett and Horace E. Bragdon, worked over her without success. Then the doctors called the police. Patrolmen John E. Parsons and George Cass responded and the woman was revived.

Nearly $300 worth of the drug was found. It was hidden under carpets, in dressers, in the bed, behind pictures. A complete layout, including scales, picks and measures, was found secreted in a box. They pleaded not guilty and were held in $300 each for a hearing Friday. Bail was furnished.

QUELL RIOTOUS BARBERS

Police Reserves Are Out to Curb Strikers in Two Outbreaks.

TWO ARRESTS; MAN HURT.

One hundred striking barbers took part today in riots on Atlantic avenue, across from the South station, and on Central street, near the Chamber of Commerce. One man was badly injured. As a result of the disorders, two men were arrested.

The trouble started in front of E. M. Dodd's barber shop on the ground floor of No. 616 Atlantic avenue. Here the strikers gathered shortly before noon and yelled in the street while three of their number entered the shop and tried to persuade the barbers inside to quit work. Refusal was followed by jeers.

Wounded Man Stays on Job.

Some one in the crowd outside hurled a brickbat through the plate glass window. This struck Walter M. Plant, one of the barbers, on the head, inflicting a deep gash which bled profusely. At the first sign of trouble Miss Helen Hartford, manicure girl in the shop and a pretty blonde, went into Dewey square for the police. Hurrying back to the shop the young woman saw Plant lying on the floor. She bathed his head and then bandaged his wound. Plant when he was revived refused to leave his barber's chair.

In the street Policeman "Bill" Lewis battled with a group of the strikers. With his lone fists he fought his way into the centre of the throng where he grabbed two men. One of these escaped, but was captured a moment later by Lewis. Both men were placed under arrest.

Half a dozen reserves later came up from the City Hall avenue station and the rioters scattered north on Atlantic avenue. Later they formed a procession and marched to the Chamber of Commerce barber shop, which had been threatened by the I. W. W. leaders. Here the door was barred in their faces by a special policeman inside the building.

Dispersed by Reserves.

The hundred men then went to a barber shop at the corner of Central and India streets. A score entered the shop. Police reserves dispersed the crowd a few minutes later.

Several Chelsea business men were left half-shaved and with half a haircut in Chelsea barber shops this noon.

Twenty striking barbers came over from Boston and, in less than an hour, had called seventy-five out of the one hundred union barbers from various shops in the control part of the city. The strikers did not try to parade, but proceeded without formation from shop to shop.

A special mass meeting of the A. F. of L. Barbers' Union will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Wells Memorial Hall, to act upon the strike situation.

The meeting has been called under the joint direction of the executive boards and the strike committees of the Barbers' Union, the executive board of the Boston Central Labor Union, and Frank H. McCarthy, New England organizer of the A. F. of L.

Keep Japanese Out, Says D. A. R. Head

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Mrs. William Cummins Story, the new president-general of the D. A. R., now in Washington on a visit, believes that the patriotic education of Americans of tomorrow is the present day duty of the 100,000 American women who belong to the D. A. R.

"The wisdom of the statesmen who excluded the oriental from this country was well timed," she said today. "The oriental is not of our kind. His standard of morals is deteriorating to sturdy Americanism. I sympathize with the Californians who want to save their beautiful land for people who can become citizens and Americans."

WOOD CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

Two Hour Charge by Court Follows Mysterious Conference in Judge's Lobby.

WOOD FAMILY IN COURT

The Wood-Attean-Collins case went to the jury at 1:30 today.

Judge John C. Crosby's charge lasted from 11 to 1. Its opening was delayed by a mysterious conference between the judge, the attorneys and a juror in the judge's lobby. After the conference it was stated that legal points had been discussed, but until the judge took his place various rumors as to what had happened were circulated.

There was a twenty-five minute conference at the judge's bench, as a result of which Judge Crosby directed the jurors to disregard one or two sentences in District Attorney Pelletier's address.

Wood's Family in Court.

When the judge gave final instructions, and the jury was excused for lunch. At 2:30 they went to the jury room and commenced their deliberations.

It was expected the jury would be out for some hours, as it is necessary for them to render fifteen verdicts—there being three defendants and five counts in the indictment.

During the judge's charge, William H. Wood, Jr., a Harvard student, sat beside his father. Frederick H. Ayer, Mr. Wood's father-in-law, was also in court, as were some of the women of Mr. Wood's family.

Judge Crosby in his charge said:

"Probability of guilt is not sufficient ground for you to decide the issues of this case. You will consider only the first five counts in the indictment.

"You must pass upon each count separately. You must render a verdict as to each count and as to each defendant. This means you must reach fifteen different verdicts—there being five counts and three defendants.

The Matter of Conspiracy.

"It is necessary to show that the defendants charged with conspiracy were together, or acted together. If the agreement be found to exist, though never carried out, the guilt is there and the conspirators are responsible.

"If the jury finds that no conspiracy existed, that ends the case.

"If the jury finds a conspiracy existed, and that certain persons were active as a result, the jury must find all parties to the conspiracy responsible for those acts."

Give the child as much cool water as he will take.

The clothing of the child should be light and loose.

Children should be bathed two or three times each day during hot weather.

Improper food combined with high temperature are the chief destroyers of babies, causing 75 per cent. of the deaths.

The Cat, Like the Coon, Comes Down

Tabby, a Weak in Franklin Square Tree, Lured by Tempting Liver.

The Franklin square tabby cat, which had been roosting in an elm tree since Sunday, and which not even the firemen of Ladder 13 could bring down, descended today, lured by a piece of liver in the hands of George Kennison, drug clerk at Washington and West Newton streets.

Kennison mounted a ladder at 9:30 to the lowest tree branch and held up the liver to Tabby's hungry gaze. The cat came down slowly. At hand's reach Kennison made a grab, the cat dodged and fell to the turf, twenty-five feet below. Showing that she still had a few lives left, tabby scampered across the street and disappeared around a corner.

CABINET IN SESSION ON CRISIS

TEST ALIEN LAW IN COURT

WASHINGTON, June 6.—New and important developments came today in the Japanese crisis, following Japan's latest protest against the California alien land legislation. These developments were:

The report in a cable dispatch from Tokio that Secretary of State Bryan had proposed to Japan that the entire controversy be submitted to The Hague for arbitration.

The revelations of what purports to be a secret pact between Germany and Japan by which Germany is said to become Japan's strong ally.

The meeting of the President and Cabinet today to discuss the Japanese situation and Japan's new demands.

Japs Delay Reply.

The Tokio dispatch gives the first intimation here that The Hague has been suggested as a means of settling the dispute. The dispatch said that the Tokio government has postponed its reply to this suggestion from the State Department, and further declared that Japan, in its new protest, claims that the California law is a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the United States Constitution.

The secret pact story is told in a news dispatch from New York today and is based on statements and documents of Dr. Armand Carl Graves, former confidential agent of the German government, who is now in New York. Dr. Graves asserts that not only does such a pact exist but that it is greatly to the disadvantage of the United States. Coming today when the Japanese tangle is most acute, the story caused widespread discussion in official circles.

DANIELS CALLS ON MIDDIES TO STOP HAZING

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 6—Bitterly denouncing hazing and urging total abstinence, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels today made a speech at the commencement exercises of the Naval Academy that brought ringing cheers from the big assemblage of cadets.

"I have no sympathy for the arguments in favor of hazing," declared Secretary Daniels. "There is none worth considering. Let me appeal to you to take the lead of the American institutions in stamping out this barbarous practice from our schools. Put the hazer under your ban as one who violates your high code of ethics. I would like to see Annapolis reopen the putrid grave of the code duello and bury on top of its rotten corpse the practice of hazing."

Touching on the practice in past years of some naval officers resigning their positions to go into the commercial business, the Secretary said:

"The United States does not educate naval cadets for the purpose of supplying trained men for the big industrial concerns of the country. Every principle of honor, faith and fair dealing implies that a man should not accept a free education from his country and then give his talents to some industrial concern instead of to the navy."

Bryan 'Shuns Light,' Standard Taunts

Traces His Career from Free Silver to Grape Juice.

LONDON, June 6.—The London Standard contains an editorial under the caption, "An Unobtrusive Statesman." It is heavily sarcastic and at the expense of Secretary Bryan and his expressed dislike for publicity. After reviewing the most notable well-advertised points of Bryan's career from "free silver to grape juice," the editorial says:

"It must all be very painful to a sensitive statesman, but we are afraid Mr. Bryan will have to bear it. The fierce light that beats on public men and party leaders will not be diverted even from one who knows so little of the art of advertising and has avoided the general gaze so sedulously as the distinguished platform orator who is chief of President Wilson's cabinet.

Army and navy experts said the Graves revelation was a proof that Japan is making secret preparations for war.

President is Hopeful.

President Wilson told the members of his Cabinet today that a way had been opened for an amicable solution of the Japanese difficulty. The visit by Ambassador Chinda to the White House brought about a clearer understanding of the situation. President Wilson does not say that the notes which have been passed between governments by them-selves are a means of bringing about a diplomatic settlement. However, they have placed no barriers in the way of further interchange by which a solution may be reached.

A test in the course, whether by the Japanese government or by private Japanese citizens under their own names, it is thought will most certainly be brought as soon as the California land law, to which Japan objects, goes into effect August 10.

The test will settle the question of whether treaty rights are ignored by the California law. The bringing of the action by individuals, with the knowledge and consent of the Japanese government may be arranged for the purpose of saving that government the embarrassment of placing itself into a position of dealing with a separate State, instead of directly with the nation.

Release of Dr. Graves.

Interest centres in the revelations made by Dr. Graves in New York. His secret past story is verified in part by documentary evidence. Other parts of course cannot be verified. It is recalled here that Dr. Graves was arrested and placed on trial in Edinburgh, Scotland, charged with having in his possession plans of big guns in the Edinburgh forts. After a trial, which attracted international attention, the German confidential agent was convicted and sentenced to serve eighteen months in jail.

Now, at the end of ten months, Dr. Graves is not only out of prison but in America. In a remarkable statement to the AMERICAN he asserts that he was released on condition that he enter the British confidential service.

He obtained from the German representative's portfolio a verbatim copy of a secret agreement entered into by the German government with Japan defining the attitude which Germany will assume in the event of war between the United States and Japan.

Germany sanctions and will not obstruct Japan in any colonizing intention Japanese entertains as regards the Far East and would not obstruct the acquiring of cooling stations in the South seas other than New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago. Germany would not prevent the acquisition of German vessels by Japan providing such vessels were not auxiliary cruisers of the imperial German navy.

Germany wishes it understood that in the event of a conflict between Japan and another nation, Germany will maintain a strict neutrality in any event not affecting Germany itself. Germany expresses high regard for the Japanese nation and desires closer connection with Japan.

This document, according to Dr. Graves, was signed in a German foreign cipher consisting of the figures W and R intertwined, followed by the numerals 24, which represented the serial number of the dispatches.

Wired Pact to London.

Having obtained this copy of the document, Dr. Graves declares that immediately upon landing in New York he cabled the contents in code to his principals in London, and later sent a copy of the original, which was a facsimile made by special process, by registered letter to the same agent.

A dispatch from London today says that mystery surrounds the release of Dr. Armgaard Karl Graves, who was sentenced in July last at Edinburgh to eighteen months' imprisonment for espionage.

The AMERICAN correspondent today made exhaustive inquiries in London and also in Scotland in an endeavor to ascertain when Graves left prison and why he was released before the completion of his sentence. Thomas McKinnon Wood, Secretary for Scotland, professed ignorance regarding Graves' release, while at the Scottish office in Whitehall Under Secretary Lamb admitted that Graves had been liberated "in due course," but refused to give the date.

PRINCESS MARY, only daughter of English rulers, who was rebuked by the Queen for commending the suffragette cause.

PRINCESS IS REBUKED FOR MILITANCY

LONDON, June 6.—It is reported today that Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was sternly rebuked by her mother for commending the justice of the suffragette "cause."

The Duchess of Portland refused to accept the position of Mistress of the Robes because of her sympathy for the propaganda and her knowledge that Queen Mary resents it.

In the case of the London & Manchester Plate Glass Company against the insurance underwriters, the court holds that companies insuring plate glass are not responsible for damages done by suffragettes.

Militants placed broken glass upon the motor cycle track at Douglas, Isle of Man, where the tourist trophy event was scheduled to be held today.

When the peace envoys of the States in the Balkan league and of Turkey arrived at St. James Palace today to renew their negotiations over the final draft of a peace treaty they found their way blocked by a hooting, jeering mob, which surrounded three time suffragettes. The suffragettes were trying to make a speech and the police were fighting with the mob in order to save the women from violence. Some of the peace delegates were caught in the vortex and for a time got a close view of real hostilities. The occurrence delayed the negotiations half an hour.

"L" ISSUE NO PARALLEL, SAYS FOSS ON STRIKE

In a statement issued today Governor Foss defends his position in the contracts being made between the Boston Elevated and the Hyde Park strikes, in which it has been implied that he had improperly used his influence in favor of the striking Elevated employes. The statement follows:

Comparing these tw strikes it has been stated that the men were not in the right in the Elevated matter, and that it is a case of poetic justice that a should now have a similar matter to deal with.

It is important that the public should recognize that my action in advising the Elevated to yield to the workmen was based on information which I believed clearly indicated that the Elevated had discharged certain men chiefly for the reason that they were members of a union, or were attempting to organize such a union. The action of the Elevated officials in this matter was contrary to the spirit and the letter of our statutes, and I exerted my influence in favor of a settlement which involved taking back the men who had been discharged in violation of our law. As Governor, I could take no other course.

At Hyde Park the situation is wholly different. Here is an industrial plant in which the right of the men to belong to unions is never questioned; a plant which is now, in the judgment of its managers, paying the highest rates of wages which the business can stand—rates which are substantially higher than the average rates throughout the State in similar industries.

Limit Has Been Reached.

The management has advanced these salaries as rapidly as conditions warranted, until a limit has been reached and the business can stand no more. The employes of the company are entirely free to leave their work, or to come back to work as they see fit. The company is doing all it can do for the advantage of its employes, and in this case there is no question as to violation of law, either in letter or in spirit.

Mapes claims that the divorce was granted after his second marriage, and that this marriage being illegal, he committed no crime in the marriage of Eva L. Thayer, a young Somerville woman, last April, whom he deserted shortly afterward.

PLAN TO CURB BIG TRUSTS BY HEAVY TAXES

WASHINGTON, June 6.—With a view to incorporating in the tariff bill a graduated tax on tobacco production which will curb the giant tobacco concerns, Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Senators James and Thomas today began the consideration of the Hitchcock tobacco tax amendments. Senator Simmons asked the sub-committee, headed by Senator Stone, which has completed its work on the schedule assigned to it, to take up the tobacco tax problem.

President Wilson has not yet given attention to a plan to limit monopoly by taxing monopolistic production to death. Attorney-General McReynolds has believed in the plan for more than a year, although he only recently announced his position.

Under the terms of the Hitchcock amendment submitted to the Senate yesterday, if the large companies which compelled the Tobacco Trust were to continue their present output of cigars and cigarettes they would be compelled to pay additional tax to the government of over $10,000,000.

Further acting against the Oil and Tobacco interests is likely as a result of Attorney-General McReynolds holding that neither the Standard Oil nor the Tobacco Trust has been actually dissolved to meet the requirements of the statute designed to destroy monopolies. It has been known that Mr. McReynolds looked upon the tobacco dissolution as an "glorious subterfuge," but now places the Standard Oil dissolution in the category of inadequacy.

DIVORCE ASKED BY PEOPLE'S PALACE HEAD

Mrs. Susan J. Sulzer, wife of Captain Franklin M. Sulzer of the Salvation Army, superintendent of the People's Palace, South End, declares she is surprised by the divorce suit instituted by her husband, charging intoxication, cruelty and desertion.

She says she came here from New York expecting a happy reunion with him and her daughter Ruth, fifteen, but faced the divorce libel instead. She said:

I have used liquor, but I have won out against it and I have made it known to him since I came here.

It was my husband who deserted me. The charges of assault are ridiculous. He is a big man of more than 200 pounds. He has blackened my eyes.

LADY CURZON BEAUTY QUEEN IN ROYAL FETE

LONDON, June 6.—The great Versailles fete ball at Albert Hall undoubtedly was the greatest event of the social season. It was a brilliant attempt to revive the regal splendors of the Louis XIV Court. More than that, it sought to gather all the courts of Europe of that gorgeous period in a supposed royal fete at the Sun King's marvellous palace.

The decorations in white, with golden door de lis, great silken banners and orange trees in tubs gave a correct atmosphere.

Queen Mary, with other royalties, attended, occupying the royal box overlooking the brilliant scene. Her Majesty wore magnificent jewels. Under a canopy of pale blue, sprinkled with golden lilies, Louis, in the person of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Streitz and Queen Marie Therese, impersonated by the Countess of Dudley, held court, receiving the Kings and Queens of Holland, Spain, Denmark, Sweden, England, etc.

Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt had on a Louis XIV blue gown. Among the Americans who took part, after entertaining at dinner were Mrs. William P. Draper, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. George and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich, whose party included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carhart.

May Bar Boxing.

BRUSSELS, June 6.—A bill to prohibit boxing matches has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies, endorsed by a large number of deputies, and it is expected it will be passed by a big majority.

HUNT INVADER AT WELLESLEY ON GIRL'S CLEW

A Wellesley man who has been missing for a day is being sought by the police as a suspect in the invasion of Miss Lydia Louise Palen's room in Shafer Hall, one of the college dormitories.

The description she gave of the intruder, who fled after hitting her over the head with a shoe, fits that of a Wellesley character who is believed to be mentally deficient.

The dormitories were placed under double guard last night and the police of Wellesley and Natick bent every effort to find the man.

Miss Palen's father, who lives in New Rochelle, N. Y., is ready to employ detectives to run down the man who frightened his daughter if the police search fails.

The invasion of Miss Palen's room was the chief topic of discussion among Wellesley girls today. Investigation of the circumstances by the college authorities revealed the fact that the man had first tried to effect an entrance into Cazenove Hall, adjoining, had roused the occupant of one room, but had managed to escape detection.

Baseball Chair for Taft at Yale

Special Seat, Back of Grandstand, Built for the Professor.

NEW HAVEN, June 6.—Professor William H. Taft, professor of Kent law at Yale, has had further distinction conferred upon him by the Yale Baseball Association, which has awarded him a special baseball chair. It is in the grandstand, directly back of the home plate.

There wasn't a seat in the grandstand ample for the former President. When this was learned, there was a ripping and a tearing out in the first row, an aisle seat was extended on the side by the addition of another seat, everything securely bolted to the floor, a brand new reinforced wire screen put up before the seat to turn aside foul tips, and the chair extended to Professor Taft.

King George's Cadet Son Enjoys Game at Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 6.—One of the most enthusiastic of the sixty cadets of His Majesty's ship Cumberland, who passed through Montreal on their way to Toronto and Niagara Falls, was Prince Albert Frederick George, second son of King George of England.

After supper at a hotel the boys bought some cigarettes and ran across the street to Viger square. Here a small group, including the Prince, started a game of leap-frog up the middle of St. Louis street, a little used thoroughfare.

SAW BOSTON WOMAN'S DEATH JUMP AT SEA

The suicide of a woman passenger supposed to be Mrs. A. S. Temple of No. 17 Gaylord street, Dorchester, was confirmed by Captain A. C. Donnison of the Eastern Steamship Corporation's steamer Hanson B. Fuller, which arrived at Central wharf early today. Captain Donnison denied positively the rumor of a double suicide.

Captain Donnison said:

"The woman leaped from the steamer at about 8.30 Wednesday night near Cape Rock, Swampscott. Adam F. Brewer of No. 15 John street, Boston, a traveling salesman, was the only witness of the suicide, and at once ran to the pilot house, where I was on duty, and told me some one had jumped overboard.

"I ordered the steamer stopped and played the searchlight on the water, but the woman did not rise again."

Ask "How They Got It," Says Hammond

Bay State Man Declares Extent of Wealth Is Secondary.

ADA, O., June 6.—John Hays Hammond of Gloucester, many times a millionaire, delivering an address at the commencement of the Ohio Northern University, said:

I should say in contradiction to the question "How much have you?" in determining the limit of a man's wealth, that we should ask the questions "How did you get it?" and "What are you doing with it?" The criterion of success should be what one has achieved in any capacity for the benefit of his fellow-beings.

Dr. Wiley's "Pure Food" Baby Pulls Out Papa's Hair

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Dr. Harvey N. Wiley, "pure-food" champion, is minus a handful of hair, as the result of a wager with a friend at the Cosmos Club. Dr. Wiley, to prove that a proper diet was essential for the welfare of young children, cited the case of his own baby, not yet one year old.

"I haven't much hair to spare," said Dr. Wiley, "but if my youngster can't yank out a handful or two of it, just to illustrate its strength, I'll buy you a new hat."

The Wiley baby "made good."

HUB GIRL RAPS FOREIGNERS AS HUSBANDS

NEW YORK, June 6.—European men as prospective husbands were roasted to a nice, frizzled brown today by Miss Madeline Cobb, aged 20, a beautiful Boston girl, who arrived on the liner President Grant from a year's stay in Munich, Germany, where she studied music.

"I'd remain an old maid all my life before I'd marry a foreigner," declared Miss Cobb. "Why, all those foreigners I saw abroad struck me as being sham. When I marry it'll be an American. Nothing in the world could induce me to marry one of those foreigners."

While riding in a Munich park one day, Miss Cobb, after a long chase, saved the life of an army officer whose horse had run away. Naturally he proposed. "But I told him I wouldn't marry him—you see he was a foreigner," said the young woman.

"He was nice and all that, and he seemed so broken up because I didn't accept him that I felt sorry for him, but I wouldn't marry a foreigner for anything in the world."

School Field Day Held at Gloucester

GLOUCESTER, June 6.—The annual school field day and competitive drill was held today at Stage Fort Park by the members of the High School. There was a company drill for the banner, and individual competitive drills for the Colonel Edward Huskell gold and silver medals.

OLIVER SAYS HE IS WORTH FIVE MILLION

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania, testified before the "lobby" investigating committee today that he had holdings representing about $5,000,000, which would be affected by the tariff bill. One and one half millions of this sum were represented by Pittsburgh newspaper stock and the balance is in coal mines. Next to "Uncle Ike" Stephenson of Wisconsin, Oliver is the richest Senator. Oliver said that a number of men had called on him in regard to tariff matters, but there was nothing improper in the interviews.

Senator Walsh a member of the investigating committee, showed a disposition to pry further into Oliver's wealth. "Have you any holdings affected by the tariff bill which have not been mentioned?" queried Walsh.

"Mr. Chairman," responded Oliver, "I object to having my personal affairs brought into this committee, and I believe this investigation should be confined strictly to the subjects outlined by the resolutions under which it was authorized."

"I think you are dead right," exclaimed Senator Nelson.

Oliver went on to explain that he had holdings other than those mentioned, among them copper property in Michigan.

German Strikers Fight.

STETTIN, Ger., June 6.—A battle between police and strikers in which seventy are reported to have been severely wounded, has been fought in the suburb of Frauendorf, as the sequel to the killing of a striker by a non-striker.

Bootblacks Win Three More Shops

Conference Today May End Strike at All Places.

Three more bootblack employers signed the union scale today and their employes returned to work. There are still fifty strikers whose employers have not signed. These include the Elevated stands, one on School street and five small ones. A meeting was called for this afternoon between representatives of the Bootblacks' Union, F. H. McCarthy, New England organizer of the A. F. of L., and Joseph K. Hayes, representing these remaining employers, to effect a settlement before night if possible.

The Bootblacks' Union today sent a letter to Pemberton square thanking the police for fair treatment of pickets in the strike.

Sunday an effort will be made to organize the Greek bootblacks, who have so far refused to go out on strike.

Says the Militants Hurt All Womankind

PARIS, June 6.—Mme. Jules Siegfried, wife of an ex-minister of the French Cabinet and president of the French National Association of Women, is strongly opposed to the tactics adopted by the militant suffragettes. She says: "The militant suffragettes are behaving as if they are lunatics. Their impolent and dangerous demonstrations hurt the cause of womankind."

House Passes Bill Governor Opposes

Although Governor Foss has declared he will veto the measure, the House of Representatives today, by a voice vote, passed to be engrossed a bill to permit street railway companies to issued preferred stock to twice the amount of capital stock. Representatives Hardy of Huntington and Lomasney of Boston led the fight for the bill.

GIRARD GETS 6 MONTHS, WIFE ON PROBATION

Henry Girard was given six months in the House of Correction by Judge Creed in Boston Municipal Court today for shoplifting, but Jennie Girard, his three-month's bride, charged with the same offense, was placed on probation on her plea that she had been forced by her husband to steal.

The couple was in court a few days ago. Mrs. Girard admitted that she had been sent to exeorborn from New Bedford, where her home is, but that she had reformed and tried to lead a good life. When she married Girard she hoped to have a good home, but she told the court that Girard made her go shoplifting, stealing moneys from drunken men, and do other criminal things to get money. The case was continued for investigation in New Bedford, and the report to the court caused Judge Creed to show leniency toward the girl today.

Autoist Jailed Two Months, Fined $50

In Lynn court today Judge O'Brien fined John E. Wilson $50 and sentenced him to two months in the House of Correction for running into a wagon with his auto. Wilson appealed and was held in $300. Wilson had a little runabout that he bought second-hand. He is a shoe worker. He said he was taking a spin with a friend. The friend grabbed at the wheel and the runabout struck a wagon owned by J. B. Blood & Co., grocers. Wilson drove away, but after a few minutes returned.

WANTED—Information from anyone who has traded at our store and is dissatisfied with the merchandise purchased or the service given in the store. LEOPOLD MORSE CO., Adams Square, Boston.

Recently we sent out 500 letters to as many customers of the store. The following is quoted from them:—

Will you tell us frankly whether we have left undone anything we should have done in order to retain your patronage?

Although we take every precaution to avoid mistakes, one does creep in now and then despite our care. If we hear of it we straighten it out at once, regardless of any effort involved. If we never know anything about it—if we are never given a chance to set ourselves right—it may mean that a customer is lost to us forever.

The replies received represent a most gratifying endorsement of our methods and our merchandise. We did hear from one or two individuals who had been the victims of unintentional blunders on our part, never giving us the chance to square ourselves, which we hastened to do as soon as the letters were received.

Now, maybe you who read this, have a "kick" coming. The object of this advertisement is to impress on your mind the fact that if you have ever had, or will have, any reason to feel dissatisfied with us or our goods for any cause, we stand ready to "make good" now, or any other time.

That's the meaning of the guarantee of complete satisfaction that appears on the label in Morse-Made Clothes.

Can you suggest any way to make it stronger?

Pope Praises Burns, Gives Him Blessing

Says Detective's Work Is in Behalf of Justice.

ROME, June 6.—W. J. Burns, head of the American detective agency which bears his name, accompanied by his wife, said today, after an audience with the Pope, that the Pope's face was the finest he ever saw, and he was deeply impressed by his appearance.

The Pope expressed his pleasure at meeting Mr. Burns, who, he said, had spent his life in aiding justice. He praised Mr. Burns' good work and gave him a special blessing.

PARENTS IN BROCKTON TO BACK TEACHER

BROCKTON, June 6.—Parents may call a mass meeting to demand a public hearing in behalf of Charles A. Jenney, principal of the Lincoln School, whose resignation has been demanded by the School Board on the ground that the discipline of his school had not been for the best good of his pupils. Mr. Jenney declares he will not resign. He said:

I have been charged with being responsible for conduct of an immoral nature on the part of two of the pupils in the fourth grade. Some members of the School Board have taken the stand that I should have personally prevented what has taken place, claiming that I should have devoted more of my time to that room.

The strange part of it all is that for the past ten years I have made a special effort to uplift the moral aspect of the school. It has been my custom every year to read to the boys of the upper grades passages from a book for uplifting the morals of boys. I have read the same passages to younger boys at Camp Durrell, Friendship, Me., of which I have been superintendent for years.

I have just discussed this matter with Edward A. Hearne, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and he not only requested that I again take charge of the camp, but sanctioned my reading of the book to the boys.

Some of the School Board claimed that had parents known that I had read the passages from the books they would have protested against it. As a matter of fact, parents have known and have approved of it. I began the readings more than ten years ago at the request of an active member of the Mothers' Committee of the Woman's Club.

Slave War Veteran's Last Wish Honored

Through the ruling of Judge Hardy in the Suffolk Court, Oliver Sinde, a former slave and Civil War veteran, was buried with other soldiers at Mt. Hope Cemetery, according to directions left his executor, in granting the injunction restraining his brothers from interfering in the funeral arrangements, Judge Hardy, himself a Civil War veteran, said the wishes of an old soldier ought to be carried out.

LOW PRICES on Cigars, Cigarettes ...AND... Smoking Tobacco at the RIKER-JAYNES STORES

Take advantage of the opportunity we are offering in prices on STANDARD brands of Cigarettes, Imported Cigars and Smoking Tobacco. Such marked reductions from regular prices cannot last forever.

The war in prices is still in full sway. The United Cigar Stores found fault because we met their indirect reductions with direct ones, and their friend, the American Tobacco Co., tried to persuade us to advance our prices so as to be the same as the United Cigar Store Prices. This we refused to do.

They have made every effort to stop us from selling these goods at our low prices, but we are determined that no trust, however powerful or resourceful, shall dictate to us concerning either our price or our policies.

Our reputation has been made by low prices and fair dealing with the public, and, as we have stated in previous advertisements, we will not be undersold by anyone, either directly or indirectly.

Urges France to Protect Mothers

PARIS, June 6.—The question of the protection of women in France during motherhood caused a lively debate in the Chamber of Deputies. Deputy Engerand proposed to compel employers to continue paying working women during time absent from employment. He said France and Turkey were the only European countries in which motherhood was not protected.

$7,000 A YEAR TOO SMALL PAY, JUDGE RESIGNS

NEW LONDON, Ct., June 6.—Walter C. Noyes, one of the judges of the Second Judicial Circuit, comprising the States of Vermont, Connecticut and New York, who has resigned, today said:

The salary of the office, $7,000 per year, is inadequate for the support of my family and for the increasing expenses of the education of my children. My outside income is not sufficient to bring the total to an amount commensurate to my family's needs.

President Wilson has accepted the resignation, but has not named a successor. Judge Noyes was appointed in December, 1907. It is said he intends to take up private business.

Finger-Eating Bear Arrested at Coney

NEW YORK, June 6.—Startling conditions of primeval evil were bared at Coney Island yesterday when Rudolph Pollock of Manhattan tried to pet a pet bear that was being led along Surf avenue by Paul Bourgeois.

The bear continued down Surf avenue toward the show place, where it takes a role, but Pollock got mad because it took the index finger of his right hand along with it.

Scalded Man Dies.

MAYOR SENDS COUNCIL AVERY STREET ORDER

ayor Fitzgerald will send to the City Council on Monday orders accepting the acts of the Legislature, one authorizing the widening of Avery street to a width of forty feet, and at an estimated cost of $1,300,000, and the other authorizing a loan of $100,000 for the High School of Commerce, additional to the $500,000 at present available.

In regard to the street widening, the Mayor said it will be done under the new law, which permits the Street Board to assess all betterments, whether within or beyond the old 125 feet limit. No limit is placed on the distance from the improvement.

It is estimated that with such assessment power the improvement may not cost the city above $500,000.

Mayor Fitzgerald, referring to the new assessment law, said that it was one of the most progressive measures in connection with street improvement and construction ever passed for Boston.

Cigarettes in UNITED CIGAR STORES

This merry little "war" between the drug stores furnishes us a splendid opportunity to make it clear to the smokers in this town that no one else can give values equal to ours. Take cigarettes for instance.

Under our own brands, we are putting millions of cigarettes directly from the factory into the consumers' pockets with all the usual overhead and in-between costs and profits and advertising expenses cut out and saved.

Through our Profit-Sharing Certificates this big saving is doubled and values made impossible of duplication.

These special introductory numbers best illustrate the idea:

OXFORD	Cork Tip	10c.	3	Certificates Free

Write This Down In Your Little Book

"Spring, 1913--Kennedy Says 'Patch Pockets'."

Six months or a year from now, turn back to that and see how far wrong our prediction is. It's not "second sight," but foresight—simply an ability to read the handwriting on the wall—that enables us to forecast style so accurately.

We were the first to feature plaid-back overcoats, first in the revival of Norfolks and first to show club checks. Now we're first in line with patch pockets—just as surely a winning style as any of the others that we've been the first to advocate. Here and here only will you find patch pockets plentiful—widest in variety and biggest in value.

We repeat that choice merchandise is extremely scarce this season, and, far from being obtainable at reduced prices, is pretty generally held at a premium. We consider it doubly fortunate that we are able to offer such a large stock of the kind of clothes our customers have learned to expect of us, and at the same time make no upward revision in our prices.

Seek Man for Steeves' Death.

The South Boston police today declared that the man they sought in connection with the death of Joseph Steeves of No. 12 Wadleigh court, found unconscious in the street a few days ago, had left town, but that they expect to arrest him within a week. Steeves, it is believed, was killed in a fight.

STATE DETECTIVES CALLED TO AID INVESTIGATION OF METHODS OF THE ICE TRUST

few big companies which are able to stifle competition at will. It should be borne in mind that nearly all the one-team concerns soon attend the city long their ice at wholesale from the big concerns and retail it over the routes allotted to them.

Here is just how the big firms furnish ice to Boston consumers:

BOSTON—Boston Ice Company sells in practically all of Boston, except West Roxbury, Dorchester and Brighton. Former heads of the Independent Ice Company, in a suit now pending in the United States District Court, allege that the Boston Ice Company dictates the directorate of the Independent Ice Company. The Independent Ice Company has the downtown district through the South End, Northampton street, Atlantic avenue, Tremont, Hanover and North streets and in the Back Bay. The Central Ice Manufacturing Company of South Boston, practically a wholesale concern, has a downtown district. The Morrill-Atwood Company of Charlestown runs in Boston proper, Charlestown also has the Winter Hill Ice Company.

DORCHESTER—The Turner Ice Company and the J. Frank Pope Company, formerly a partnership concern, sell here. The Dorchester Ice Company does practically all the business in this district not done by the Pope-Turner concerns.

WEST ROXBURY—Highland Cooperative Ice Company.

ROXBURY—Dorchester Ice Company sells here as far as Tremont street in one direction, and as far as Northampton street in another. The Boston Ice Company covers most of the district.

CHESTNUT HILL, Jamaica Plain and South Boston—Boston Ice Company.

WINTHROP—Winthrop Pure Ice Company.

REVERE—Winthrop Pure Ice Company.

MEDFORD—Nearly all of Medford is covered by the Medford Ice Company.

NEWTON CENTRE and adjacent Newton districts—George D. Miller.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS and adjacent Newton districts—Newton Ice Company.

NEWTON CORNER—Howard Ice Company. J. Totten & Sons cover a few streets.

WALTHAM—J. Totten & Sons and J. S. Peterson.

WAKEFIELD — Wakefield Ice Company.

CAMBRIDGE—Fresh Pond Ice Company, Cambridge Ice Company.

WATERTOWN—Howard Ice Company.

EAST WATERTOWN — Fresh Pond Ice Company.

NEEDHAM—Needham Ice Company.

QUINCY—Meadow Brook Ice Company, Easton Ice Company.

WELLESLEY—Norton Ice Company.

MALDEN—F. E. Jones, Fells Ice Company.

WAVERLEY—J. S. Peterson, Arlington-Belmont Ice Company.

ARLINGTON—Arlington-Belmont Ice Company, Fresh Pond Ice Company.

CANTON AND PONKAPOAG—Canton Ice Company.

BELMONT — Arlington-Belmont Ice Company, Fresh Pond Ice Company, J. S. Peterson.

LINCOLN—S. S. Redman, A. G. Davis.

NORWOOD AND EAST WALPOLE—Ellis Pond Ice Company.

LEXINGTON—J. Totten & Sons, A. G. Davis.

EAST MILTON—Eaton Ice Company.

MELROSE—Fells Ice Company, F. E. Jones.

WOBURN AND WINCHESTER—Horn Pond Ice Company.

EVERETT—Fells Ice Company.

All the dealers deny that there is any agreement between them as to rates or prices. Only a few of the companies have raised the price of ice, but most of them say this will be necessary on account of the cool of the past year having been the smallest in half a century.

Terence L. Shevlin Gives $2,500 Bail

Terence L. Shevlin, former customs clerk, accused of smuggling, today furnished bail of $2,500 in connection with the indictment against Mary A. Dolan, the fashionable Back Bay modiste. The bail was given by Michael McDevitt of Somerville, who has been a life-long friend of the Sheviins. Owing to the ill health of Mr. Shevlin he has not been committed to jail, but has been in the custody of his counsel.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shevlin, together with Mrs. Dolan, have been notified to appear before Judge Morton next Tuesday morning to plead to the indictments.

HOUSE FLOPS; REJECTS FOSS' TENURE VETO

After reconsidering its action of yesterday sustaining Governor Foss' veto of the school teachers' tenure of office bill, the House of Representatives today, by a vote of 130 to 59, passed the measure over the Governor's head. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The bill provides that after a school teacher anywhere in the State, outside of Boston, had served five consecutive years, he or she may not be removed except on preferred charges, being sustained at a formal hearing. The teachers claim that the measure is necessary to protect them from removal for political reasons.

Representative Wood of Gardner made the motion to reconsider and argued that several members who wished to vote for the bill were delayed by a train accident on the Boston & Maine.

Summerfield of Boston Gigantic Rug Purchase

Eight Million Dollar Rug and Carpet Auction Held in N. Y.

Last month Alexander Smith & Sons, the largest carpet and rug mill in America, auctioned off their entire output for 1913 to the highest bidders in two auctions, a week apart. The first auction consisted of about Four Million Dollars' worth of new goods, made up ready for delivery, but was not disposed of on account of tariff changes contemplated by Congress, consequently they were compelled to sacrifice the entire output at auction.

The second auction was for stock to be made up and delivered by August 1st. Every big wholesale jobber and dealer in the United States and Canada attended these sales, and Summerfield of Boston was one of the heaviest buyers in New England. We were fortunate enough to receive our first carload at once. These rugs will go on sale at unheard-of prices.

Remember, they are all new rugs, made in 1913, and guaranteed perfect.

Angry Spouse Kills 2 of Wife's Family

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES

Spread All Over Face and Hands. Great Ugly Looking Sores. Itched and Burned Badly. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

805 Rickey St., Houston, Tex.—"My trouble began with very small pimples on the face, then went to my back and the pimples began to get larger and larger with that awful itching that I can hardly describe. The pimples were full of white matter and when I scratched them they spread all over my face and hands and made great ugly looking sores. They itched badly and had a burning sensation to them that made me feel like I was on fire. Every scratch made a place that looked like a well, and my face was disfigured. They itched and burned so badly that I could not refrain from scratching, keeping it so that it looked as if I had small-pox all of the time. My clothes made me so miserable and irritated so much that I had to try not to wear any more than I could help.

"I tried everything that I could hear about in hope of relief which came for a time but did not last long. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used Cuticura Soap in hot water freely during the day and kept the sores covered in Cuticura Ointment all of the time, never letting them become dry. I kept up the treatment six months and was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Stone, Apr. 5, 1913.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient when all else has failed. Cuticura Soap 25c, and Ointment 50c, are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

CHILD TOSSED HIGH IN AIR BY COW'S HORNS

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 6.—A maddened cow caused wild excitement in the streets of West Manchester when she tossed a child of three and one-half years into the air on her horns and then made a savage attack on a baby carriage, crushing it.

The cow became frightened by an automobile.

Mrs. Fred J. Millin of No. 245 Eddy road chanced to be passing along Granite street, leading her little daughter, Mary, by the hand, and pushing a baby carriage containing a baby.

The cow suddenly came upon them and in an instant had tossed the little girl into the air, the child falling face downward upon the sidewalk.

Benjamin Gilhooly of Granite street seized the infant in the carriage and carried it to a place of safety just before the cow lunged at the carriage and tore it into pieces.

HUNT WIFE BLIND MAN SAYS TOOK $300 WITH HER

Patrolmen of the East Dedham street station are seeking Mrs. John E. Coughlin, wife of a blind peddler of No. 9 Upton street, South End, who Coughlin charges deserted him last Thursday, taking with her $300 in cash earned from the sale of ink eradicators which he has a permit from the authorities to sell in the Boston public schools.

At the same time Captain Driscoll of the East Dedham street station is trying at the request of Mrs. Bertram, Coughlin's landlady, to find out what provision he can make for Coughlin's support. The blind man came here from Philadelphia, and is without friends who are able to care for him.

Coughlin claims that last Saturday, while he was in Cambridge, the boy he hired to guide him about the city also deserted him after relieving him of his supplies.

Without funds, he was forced to leave his boarding house, but found a temporary friend in Mrs. Bertram. He has no money to buy more supplies, or to pay boys for guiding him. Without guidance, he cannot even walk the streets. Captain Driscoll feels that Coughlin's case is a very deserving one, and hopes that someone will appear to befriend the poor blind man.

There seems to be a strong possibility of a special match race at the 500-mile distance being held at the Indianapolis speedway on Labor Day. Ever since the big event Robbie Burman has felt that fate was unkind to him. His backers in the Keaton have secured $20,000 to wager that he can defeat Goux and his Peugot in a race on Labor Day. Goux has expressed his willingness to another meeting for a prize of proportions and a side bet of $20,000. Robbie and his backers have gone to New York to conclude the preliminaries for such a meeting before Goux sails for France.

WITHIN THE LAW

PART I.—(Continued)

"HE'S a loyal kid, at that," Burke commented, with a grudging admiration. "I'll say that much for him." His expression grew morose, as again he pressed the button on his desk. "And now," he vouchsafed, "I'll show you the difference." Then, as the doorman reappeared, he gave his order: "Dan, have the Turner woman brought up." He regarded the two men with his bristling brows pulled down in a scowl. "I'll have to try a different game with her," he said, thoughtfully. "She sure is one clever little dame. But, if she didn't do it herself, she knows who did, all right." Again Burke's voice took on its savage tone. "And some one's got to pay for killing Griggs. I don't have to explain why to Mr. Demarest, but to you, Mr. Gilder. You see, it's this way: The very foundations of the work done by this department rest on the use of crooks, who are willing to betray their pals for coin. I told you a bit about it last night. Now, you understand, if Griggs' murder goes unpunished, it'll put the fear of God into the heart of every stool pigeon we employ. And then where'd we be? Tell me that."

STENOGRAPHER BIDDEN

The inspector next called his stenographer and gave explicit directions. At the back of the room, behind the desk, were three large windows, which opened on a corridor, and across this was a tier of cells. The stenographer was to take his seat in this corridor, just outside one of the windows. Over the windows, the shades were drawn, so that he would remain invisible to any one within the office, while yet easily able to overhear every word spoken in the room.

When he had completed his instructions to the stenographer, Burke turned to Gilder and Demarest.

"Now, this time," he said energetically, "I'll be the one to do the talking. And get this: Whatever you hear me say, don't you be surprised. Remember, we're dealing with crooks, and, when you're dealing with crooks, you have to use crooked ways."

There was a brief period of silence. Then, the door opened, and Mary Turner entered the office. She walked slowly forward, moving with the smooth strength and grace that were the proof of perfect health and of perfect poise, the correlation of mind and body in exactness. Her form, clearly revealed by the clinging evening dress, was a curving group of graces. The beauty of her face was enhanced, rather than lessened, by the pallor of it, for the fading of the richer colors gave to the fine features an expression more spiritual, made plainer the underlying qualities that her accustomed brilliance might half-conceal. She paid absolutely no attention to the other two in the room, but went straight to the desk, and there halted, gazing with her softly penetrant eyes of deepest violet into the face of the inspector.

FELT A CHALLENGE

Under that intent scrutiny Burke felt a challenge, set himself to match craft with craft. He was not likely to undervalue the wits of one who had so often flouted him, who, even now, had placed him in a preposterous predicament by this entanglement over the death of a spy. But he was resolved to use his best skill to disarm her sophistication. His large voice was modulated to kindliness as he spoke in a casual manner.

"I just sent for you to tell you that you're free."

Mary regarded the speaker with an impenetrable expression. Her tones as she spoke were quite as matter-of-fact as his own had been. In them was no wonder, no exultation.

"Then, I can go," she said simply.

"Sure, you can go," Burke replied, amiably.

Without any delay, yet without any haste, Mary glanced toward Gilder and Demarest, who were watching the scenes closely. Her eyes were somehow appraising, but altogether indifferent. Then she went toward the outer door of the office, still with that almost lackadaisical air.

Burke waited rather impatiently until she had nearly reached the door before he shot his bolt, with a fine assumption of carelessness in the unconcerned.

"Garson has confessed!"

Mary, who readily enough had already guessed the essential hypocrisy of all this play, turned and confronted the inspector, and answered without the least trace of fear, but with the firmness of knowledge:

"Oh, no, he hasn't!"

BURKE EXASPERATED

"What's the reason he hasn't?"

"Because he didn't do it." She stated the fact as one without a hint of any contradictory possibility.

"Well, he says he did it!" Burke vociferated, still more loudly.

Mary, in turn, resorted to a bit of finesse, in order to learn whether or not Garson had been arrested. She spoke with an inner tone of indignation.

"But how could he have done it, when he went——" she began.

The inspector felt a victim to her superior craft. His question came eagerly.

"Where did he go?"

Mary smiled for the first time since she had been in the room, and in that smile the inspector realized his defeat in the first passage of this game of intrigue between them.

"You ought to know," she said, sedately, "since you have arrested him, and he has confessed."

Demarest put up a hand to conceal his smile over the police official's chagrin. Gilder, glaring always at this woman who had come to be his Nemesis, was marveling over the beauty and verve of the one so hating him as to plan the ruin of his life and his son's.

Burke was frantic over being worsted thus. To gain a diversion, he reverted to his familiar bullying tactics. His question burst raspingly. It was a question that had come to be constant within his brain during the last few hours, one that obsessed him, that fretted him sorely, almost beyond endurance.

"Who shot Griggs?" he shouted.

Mary rested serene in the presence of this violence. Her answer capped the climax of the officer's exasperation.

"My husband shot a burglar," she said, languidly. And then her insolence reached its culmination in a query of her own: "Was his name Griggs?" It was done with splendid art, with a splendid mastery of her own emotions, for, even as she spoke the words, she was remembering those shuddering seconds when she had stood, only a few hours ago, gazing down at the inert bulk that had been a man.

Burke betook himself to another form of attack.

"Oh, you know better than that," he declared, truculently. "You see, we've traced the Maxim silencer. Garson himself brought it up from Hartford."

For the first time, Mary was caught off her guard.

"But he told me——" she began, then became aware of her indiscretion, and checked herself.

Burke seized on her lapse with avidity.

"What did he tell you?" he questioned eagerly.

Now, Mary had regained her self-command, and she spoke calmly.

"He told me," she said, without a particle of hesitation, "that he had never seen one. Surely, if he had had anything of the sort, he would have shown it to me then."

"Probably he did, too!" Burke rejoined, without the least suspicion that his surly utterance touched the truth exactly. "Now see here," he went on, trying to make his voice affable, though with small success, for he was excessively irritated by these repeated failures; "I can make it a lot easier for you if you'll talk. Come on, now! Who killed Griggs?"

MARY ENDS PRETENSE

Mary cast off pretense finally, and spoke malignantly.

"That's for you to find out," she said sneering.

Burke pressed the button on the desk, and, when the doorman appeared, ordered that the prisoner be returned to her cell.

But Mary stood rebellious, and spoke, with a resumption of her cynical scorn.

"I suppose," she said, with a glance of contempt toward Demarest, "that it's useless for me to claim my constitutional rights, and demand to see a lawyer?"

Burke, too, had cast off pretense at last.

"Yes," he agreed, with an evil smirk, "you've guessed it right, the first time."

Mary spoke to the District Attorney.

"I believe," she said, with a new dignity of bearing, "that such is my constitutional right. Is it not, Mr. Demarest?"

Take the tip, Mr. Man, "Walk Through" Daily

Filene's Automatic Bargain Basement

Here's a system automatically reducing prices and the cost of living

The Word Goes 'Round

Fifty men waited at the doors last Saturday morning before 8:30. Thousands "walked through" during the day. Before 5:30 P. M. we had sold over 1,000 pairs of Men's Douglas shoes.

Another Top-Notch Record!

Early two uniformed city employes bought shoes. Learned the salesman's name. The word went 'round.

All day sprinkled among the crowd were other men in uniforms. What's more, they asked for the same salesman and bought shoes.

Word-of-mouth-advertising is one of the best publicity agents the Automatic Bargain Basement has got. When you consider "seeing is believing" with many people, it's pretty good advertising, too.

People who "walk through" can scarcely wait to tell their friends.

So the word goes 'round. Hundreds of bargain lots every day. More and more men are coming.

HYDROCEPHALUS WINS SPELLING BEE FOR SOLON

WASHINGTON, June 6. — Spelling books were deeply perused today and, in fact, were almost unpervasable because so many leading lights of Congress and the correspondents' gallery fell down badly in the spelling bee between the Senators and Representatives and newspaper men.

Representative Frank B. Willis of Ohio, for years professor of history in the Ohio Northern University, won the spelling bee.

"Hydrocephalus" was the word which eliminated Mr. Willis' only other contestant, Senator Poindexter of Washington.

Until this word was given by the spelling master, Secretary of Agriculture Houston, Senator Poindexter stood alongside Willis and spelled down fifteen of Washington's best spelling newspapermen. Ira Bennett of the Washington Post was the last correspondent to succumb to the jaw-breaking words of Houston. He went down on "illium."

President and Mrs. Wilson, secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan and many members of the House and Senate and their wives were present.

Representative Foster of Illinois, who has an "M. D." degree, misused on the second word he was given. Dr. Foster spelled it s-a-t-e-n. He was not eliminated for this mistake, but when he failed on that good old Democratic word used by Grover Cleveland when he was President, "desuetude." Master Houston banished him.

Senator Meyers of Montana, a stickler for correct spelling when dictating, was the first victim. He misspelled "caucus."

HELEN KELLER NOW TO AID 2 IN SPAIN'S COURT

New details of the visit Helen Keller the blind-mute girl, is soon to pay the royal family of Spain, have been received in Boston, and show her aid has been enlisted not only for Don Jaime, the second child of king Alfonso, but for the youngest child, Infanta Marie Christina, who is eighteen months old.

Both are practically deaf and dumb, and Miss Keller has been asked to advance the date of her journey to Spain.

Queen Victoria Eugenie and King Alfonso with suite are now at La Granja, forty miles from Madrid, where the stork is expected shortly for the fifth time.

After the stork visits La Granja the court will go to Santander, in the far north of Spain, to dedicate the new palace, La Maddiena, after which the court will establish itself in San Sebastian, the Summer capital, to remain until the end of July.

Don Jaime is a sturdy little fellow, dark, good looking, exceedingly bright and popular with all. Deep commiseration is displayed and hopes are expressed that he may gain the powers of hearing and speech.

Austria to Protect Albanian Church

ROME, June 6.—A deputation of Albanian Roman Catholic priests called at the Vatican today to discuss the future status of the church in Albania after that district becomes a free kingdom.

Cardinal Merry del Val, papal Secretary of State, received the delegates and on authority of Pope Pius X. informed the visitors that all the Catholics in Albania will be under the protection of Austria. It is feared that a religious war between the Christians and the fierce Mohammedan tribesmen will follow the creation of a new government in Albania.

ENGLAND IS STIRRED BY RACING SCANDAL AT CLASSIC DERBY

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

SCHOOLBOYS CLASH IN THREE TRACK MEETS TOMORROW

England Is Stirred by Racing Scandal

LONDON, June 6.—The incident of the disqualification of Craganour, which was first past the winning post in the sensational Derby, has created a strong feeling in racing circles and among the general public. It is almost unprecedented that such a scandal should attach to one of the big classic races, although o ur rences are common in the smaller events.

A motion has been put down for discussion at the annual meeting of the Jockey Club on June 16, proposing more severe penalties on jockeys for foul riding such as characterized the Derby. The public feeling is that the Jockey Club stewards should take strong action in regard to Johnnie Reid's tactics.

The stewards suspended for the remainder of the Epsom meeting the jockey, Huxley, who was responsible for the accident in the race following the Derby, when the horse Feltnardo was killed.

LEDOUX, FRENCH TITLE HOLDER, TO BOX HERE

By JACK CONWAY.

THE Atlas A. A. plans to hold an all star show next Tuesday evening. There will be three ten-round bouts and one six-round whirl, making in all thirty-six pounds of boxing.

The first bout will be a six-round affair between Patsy Greene, the dapper Cambridge bantamweight, and Frank Mc-Manus of Salem. These two lads were great rivals as amateurs and they should put up a fast bout.

The first ten-round contest will bring together "Fighting Terry" Brooks of New York and Frankie Mark, the popular Beachmont lightweight. These two men clashed in an eight-round "go" at the Arena last Tuesday night and Brooks gained the decision.

Charles Ledoux the French bantam weight champion, will clash with Pa. McGovern of Brooklyn in the big ten round bout. This will be Ledoux's first bout in this country and he comes on this side of the big pond.

Ledoux is a classy performer. He knocked out such a sterling boxer as Digger Stanley, the former English bantamweight title holder, and after his bout here will go to the coast where he is scheduled to battle with Jabo Campi on June 24. Another ten-round contest will be arranged today.

Ledoux is a classy performer. He knocked out such a sterling boxer as Digger Stanley, the former English bantamweight title holder, and after his bout here will go to the coast where he is scheduled to battle with Jabo Campi on June 24. Another ten-round contest will be arranged today.

EDDIE MACK, manager of Joe Eagan is eager to match his protege with Matty Baldwin for the lightweight championship of New England. Mack says that he is willing to sign Eagan for a bout with any 135-pounder in the East if the Charlestown Beefcake will not meet Eagan. In discussing the matter today, he said:

"Eagan has proved that he is one of the best lightweights in New England. During the past year he has defeated such men as 'Young' McHugh, Steve Kennedy, Johnny Gunn, 'Young' Faulkin, Andy Cortese, Willie Adams, Mickey Fowler, Shannon O'Brien and Carter of New Orleans. Joe or Eagan and Jimmy Greenwood. Jack Britton is the only boxer who has defeated him and Joe took on Britton at short notice.

"EAGAN has fought Kennedy four times and has proved his master. The bout between Kennedy and Eagan in Lawrence last night was declared a draw but if the referee had given the decision against the home boy he would have been carried out of the club house on a stretcher. The Lawrence fans are unable to see anybody but Kennedy when he is boxing.

"BALDWIN has been matched to meet Eagan twice, and on each occasion he called off the bout. Surely Matty must have had some good reason for sidestepping the South Boston boy. I am certain that Eagan's speed would enable him to outpoint the Charlestown "Terrier." Baldwin is fast quite as fast as he was a few years ago and cannot hit very hard. So if we ever get the Bunker Hill man into a ring Eagan and myself should worry and gain a little more glory."

GEORGE ENGEL, manager of Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh, has taken his trusty typewriter in hand and announces in a lengthy article that Klaus was given a "raw" deal in his recent bout with Jack Dillon, which took place in Indianapolis. Engel asserts that Tom Dillon, the referee, favored Dillon throughout the mill and that he retarded Klaus by interfering whenever Dillon was getting the worst of things. Engel says that he would like to match his protege for another engagement with Dillon, provided that it did not take place in Indianapolis.

TOM MAHER, a husky youth from Roxbury, who is the latest addition to our colony of fight managers and would be fight managers, steps to the front of the stage and announces in a loud voice that the local 138-pounders go decorating the grates of their dead relatives whenever he challenges them in behalf of Tony Moreno, of dear old Roxbury. Maher says in all earnestness that Moreno is a regular fighter, so we give this information to local matchmakers for what it is worth.

Pickwick Ale on tap

Sam was reading his first valentine to his father.

"Stop," said Mr. Wetter, ringing the bell. "A double glass o' the invariable, my dear."

"Very well, sir," replied the miss.

"They seem to know your ways here," observed Sam.

"Yes," replied his father, "I've been here before, and no man would want anything more delicious than the bitter hop ale served here."

In those days we all called for such an ale.

Times have not changed this desire, for today it is the bitter hop flavor of Pickwick Ale that makes it so popular.

Ask for a glass of Pickwick and you will be a lifelong member of the Pickwick Club.

Mr. Pickwick.

School Stars in Three Meets

Big Harvard Interscholastics

With three big track meets on the schedule for tomorrow, Boston's leading athletes will be kept busy. The Harvard interscholastic games will be held in the Stadium, the annual games of the Boston High School Track and Field League will be staged at Wood Island Park and the national interscholast will be run off at Travers Island, New York.

It is understood that these games should conflict, as many of the athletes would like to compete in the games in which they are not entered. The games at Wood Island Park are just for the Boston schoolboys, and the athletes of the Boston schools most capable Many of the stars in the Boston schools could win points in the Harvard interscholastic meet.

Exeter Has Strong Team.

Exeter Academy is the favorite to win the Harvard games, but the team is shot to pieces through injuries, and this may give Worcester Academy, Andover or Noble & Greenough a fight.

Some great stars are expected at these games as many stars are entered and they appear to be about evenly matched. The sprint races will be of great interest to followers of schoolboy athletics as Cleary, Reef (Exeter Polar Marine and Crew of Andover and Irving Howe of Boston English High, who will run unattached and Jones of Exeter will clash in the 100 yard dash. The 220 yard dash will bring the same stars together.

Exeter's chances depend upon the condition of Jodie Tenney, the Exeter star. Tenney is entered in the quarter and half mile events, and if in condition will be a point winner in each. Irving Howe is out for high honors in the quarter and if he repeats his performance of the Yale interscholastic, when he covered the distance in fifty seconds flat, he will have a good show of winning the prize.

Gregg Dougherty of Exeter is picked to win the mile run. Dougherty was defeated last Saturday in the dual meet with Andover, but was running a little off form.

Captain Goldsmith of the Arlington High team is a strong favorite to win the mile and will give the Exeter favorite a hard run for first place. Goldsmith has been performing in fine form this season and will be at his best tomorrow.

Harry Worthington, the star Exeter athlete, will probably be unable to compete, as he put it a bit too hard last week.

Several of these stars would like to compete at the national games in New York, but are tied down for the Harvard games.

The Boston High School games will be held in three divisions, seniors, intermediates and juniors. The fight for the out-of-championship will be as bitter as the battle for the indoor honors. Over 700 boys are entered in the games and the coaches of several of the high schools predict that records for these games are bound to go.

The High School of Commerce is a slight favorite, but English High will push the Fenway boys to the limit. The loss of Irving Howe, the star English High athlete, hurts the Blue and Rye team of many points, as he has always been a great point scorer in these games.

Dorchester High expects to spring a surprise on the other schools with several star performers ready to show at their best.

Put Over Suburban Meet.

The Suburban Interscholastic League was scheduled to hold its annual games at Tufts Oval tomorrow, but the officials have decided to postpone their games as they will not conflict with the Harvard Interscholastics and the Boston High School games. The games will be held Monday on the same field.

HOT LINERS

The Naps in the game against the Yankees yesterday kept up their fine batting record by slamming out two triples and three doubles.

• • •

The Pirates trimmed the Phillies yesterday, batting out three runs in the first inning off Rixey, which were sufficient to win the game without the four runs gathered during the other sessions of play.

• • •

"Shoeless" Joe Jackson got his base hit because he made it pay—in his stocking feet. Joe has been playing baseball since the days of the Southern League cotton mills which Jackson played when he first began his baseball career. Joe is built with stone that were too tight. It was some time ago Jackson discovered it and had no time to send out and get another pair, so Jackson played that day in his stocking feet.

• • •

Both Joe Jackson and Cobb suffered split fingers in their batting averages yesterday. Cobb has four times failed to get a hit and Jackson went hitless after two attempts at the plate. He was passed twice also.

• • •

At the present time the Red Sox, who were "dopes" to repeat as pennant winners, are going right along the Athletics can they overcome this immense handicap during the 100 odd games remaining to be played?

• • •

Nap Rucker the port side flinger of the Dodgers shut out the Reds with two hits yesterday.

• • •

The Yankees by losing to the Naps in a winning battle yesterday dropped their twelfth straight game and also increased their record of home defeats to six.

• • •

Sam Crawford of the Tigers got four slashing hits yesterday. So did Oldring of the Athletics.

• • •

After the Browns knocked George Mullin out of the box yesterday Nick Altrock, who was a pitcher a few decades ago and who since has drawn pay as one of the Senators' comedians, took up the twirling duties, with the result that the Browns pounded is anouts to all corners of the lot.

• • •

The Athletics, by defeating the Tigers again yesterday, annexed their eleventh straight victory.

• • •

Tennis Stars Open Title Tourney

NEW YORK, June 6. A big crowd of tennis lovers this afternoon were at the West Side tennis court to witness the first of the elimination games for the classic Davis cup between the American and the Australasian teams.

Major Gaynor started the games by serving the ball to Maurice McLoughlin, the California tennis wizard. English critics regarded the contest because that nation now holds the cup. The winners of the elimination contests, which involve teams from the United States, Australia, Germany, France, Belgium, Canada, South Africa and Holland will meet the English players.

McLoughlin and Horace Rice one of the Australians, met in the opening match, and R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia meets Stanley Doust, the Australian captain.

The doubles will be played tomorrow and on Monday the dual singles will be played.

U. of Washington Crew Practice Daily

POUGHKEEPSIE N. Y. June 6—Coach Callahan of the University of Washington crew announced today that he would send his oarsmen out on the river only once a day, and that in the afternoon just about the hour the big race on June 21 will be rowed. The other coaches of the crews quartered here will continue to send the oarsmen out twice in the morning and afternoon. The Washington crew is the only one that has not been a spectator at the training quarters, as it was not in use today.

Sidelights on Sports

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

JIMMY COLLINS, manager of former world's championship teams, whose headquarters were right here in Boston, sat in the press box at Fenway Park watching the third struggle of the Sox and Athletics. It was the beginning of the seventh inning.

"This is about the time the players wish the game was over," he remarked. "The last few innings of a game are nerve-racking for all hands. The team that is ahead fears that a 'break' or a sudden batting rally will lose them the game and the fellows that are behind are making desperate efforts to catch up.

WATCH the players from the seventh inning on. Notice how the team that is ahead displays a lot of ginger after every put out. See the infielders throw the ball around with more pepper than they have displayed up to that point. They are all on edge, playing on their nerve. But, I had just as soon be right up here watching 'em. The best part of a ball game is a mighty ticklish affair."

I NOTICE that Fred Falkenburg has 'come back,'" continued Collins a moment later. "That fellow used to have the greatest fade-away ball in the business as good or better than Mathewson's famous fade-away. In those days Falkenburg couldn't control it very well, as the ball frequently fell in the dirt in front of the plate. But he must have acquired the control, for he seems to be unbeatable these days. He always was a fine pitcher, but he appeared to me to be somewhat timid. I suppose he has outgrown all of that nowerr?"

KID GLEASON is a great man to have traveling around with the White Sox," further ruminated Collins. "He is the kind of man to get between the players and the manager. Gleason can tame the fresh kids. Sometimes a player gets a going good and thinks he owns the club. Gleason takes that sort of thing out of them in quick order."

FOURIER, who is subbing at first base for the White Sox while awaiting the appearance of Hal Chase, has received word that his mother, who lives in Portland, Ore., was recently severely burned by fire. Chase has not fled Manager Callahan can be sold Joss the team on Saturday. He says that personal business prevents him from coming to Boston to join the club.

THE Red Sox do not seem to be hitting the ball with their accustomed vigor. You can't win games unless you run score runs, and usually you can't score runs unless you hit the ball now and then. When the novelty of being home wears off doubtless the players will recover their batting eyes.

HEINIE WAGNER split a finger in practice before the game. The injury is not serious, but it will keep him out of the game for several days. It is expected in the meantime, Neal Ball is filling in.

LOOKS like Joe Wood for a sure thing in the box this afternoon. Joe only pitched one inning against the White Sox when he acted as life-saver in the ninth inning of Tuesday's game. He ought to be right on edge this afternoon. But the boys back of him will have to do some better hitting against Ed Walsh if Ed goes in, in order to split even on the series.

Ad Wolgast Favorite Over Johnny Dundee

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, today faced a 20 foot ring for over Johnny Dundee, the New York featherweight whom he meets at Vernon on Tuesday night in a twenty round bout. There is considerable Dundee money in sight.

HARVARD CREWS SHOW UP WELL AT RED TOP

RED TOP, Ct., June 6.—With four days of hard work, the Harvard crews are beginning to show great improvement.

Yesterday Coach Wray put the Navy through some racing stunts, sending two eights over the course for a mile, the varsity winning by a scant length. Both crews started off at thirty strokes, the older crew getting the jump. At the half mile the stroke was raised to thirty-four, and near the finish to thirty-six.

Wray then sent the first and second varsity and the freshman fours for a half mile race, the freshmen winning by about half a length. In the afternoon the river was rough and in consequence only paddles were attempted, the crews paddling from four to six miles each. Robert P. Herrick, in his launch "Waif," followed the crews, and was much pleased at the prospects.

Crew physician Dr. Young arrived at the quarters to look after the men. He will remain until after the races.

Red Sox After Final Game

Joe Wood May Face Ed Walsh

The Red Sox will bid adieu to Jimmy Callahan's troublesome White Sox after today's game. The series stands 2 to 1 in favor of the visitors and Stahl's men will have to hit the ball harder than they did yesterday if they are to get an even break.

Joe Wood will pitch for Boston today. The speed king has not started a game since Monday when he was knocked out of the box by the lowly Yankees, although he performed rescue work in Tuesday's game with the White Sox.

Ed Walsh may pitch for Chicago. There is a question whether the big fellow will do mound duty for several days as he is not in the best of health. Walsh has not been a well man this season and fainted while taking a Turkish bath last week.

Wagner Out of Game.

The jinx still continues to follow the Red Sox. Heinie Wagner is the latest of McAleer's athletes to join the hospital squad. While practicing before yesterday's game, Heinie had the middle finger of his left hand split open by a hard hit ball and was forced to retire to the bench while Neal Ball filled in at short-stop.

The Red Sox as a result were obliged to pay three substitutes in the infield. Steve Yerkes was the only regular in the lineup and Steve failed to startle the "fans" by his work. During the course of the afternoon's entertainment he made three big errors while he failed to do any material damage at the bat.

The Red Sox must hit the ball safely more times than they are now doing if they hope to finish in the American League pennant race. They were able to get only four hits off the delivery of Scott in yesterday's game and as a consequence they were beaten by a score of 5 to 0.

Harry Hooper and Neal Ball were the only players who were able to connect with the offerings of the Chicago hurler, both of these young men slamming out two hits each.

Naps Come Here Tomorrow.

The champions will not have an easy time when the White Sox leave town, for they will then have to battle with the Cleveland Naps, who have been playing a remarkable game of ball this year.

But the Naps will not be here until tomorrow, and if the crippled Red Sox can beat Chicago today they will meet Birmingham's team with a little more confidence in their ability to win.

Travers Sets Up Another Golf Mark

SHORT HILLS, N. J., June 6.—Following close on his winning of the Metropolitan golf championship, when he made a new record on the Fox Hills course, the national champion, Jerome D. Travers of Upper Montclair, N. J., established a record of 73 for the re-modeled links of the Baltusrol Club in the 18-hole qualifying round of the New Jersey State amateur championship tournament. The next best score, 78, was turned in by Oswald Kirsky of Englewood, the present New Jersey champion.

Army Nine's Captain.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 6. Cadet C. M. Milliken, a member of the second class, has been elected captain of the army baseball team for the season of 1914. Milliken entered the academy in 1909 from Maine. He has played shortstop and second base during the past two seasons, but did not get a regular berth on the nine this year. The Cadets wind up the season here Saturday with Syracuse.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Boston Pilgrims will battle Evers' Cubs here again today. Manager Stallings was greatly pleased with the work of his men in yesterday's game, when they breezed in winners by the score of 8 to 4.

The playing of the Boston team here has been a surprise to Chicago "fans," who now admit that Boston as represented by a good team in the National League race. In former years Bill's National teams usually quit playing ball when their opponents gained an edge.

This year things are different. Stallings' players refuse to admit they are defeated until the game is over. Consequently they are winning more games than they formerly did.

"Hub" Perdue or Dickson will probably pitch for the Bostons today, while Lavender or Smith may perform for the Cubs.

DON'T compare the criticisms of your parents with the compliments paid you by a young man to the detriment of the former. The criticisms are at least based on sincerity.

Don't regard every compliment paid you as a reason why you should have your photograph taken. Frequent visits to a photographer are signs of a vain mind.

Don't seek information from a dream book. No one expects much from the girl who seeks information from a dream book instead of from an encyclopedia.

Don't get the prevalent notion that the young man who spends a month's salary in giving you a good time thinks more of you than the man who refuses to spend a week's. The latter loves more surely.

Don't overlook the importance of a love affair with your father. That is the best investment in the love of man that any girl can make.

Don't forget that mother is a human being, and sometimes gets tired.

Don't feel the third time a young man has called on you that it is time for you to take possession and demand that he account for the evenings he spent somewhere else.

Don't accept attentions from the wrong kind of a man, excusing yourself because they mean nothing and are trivial. Remember that the girl who walks only as far as the corner with the wrong kind of man will meet every one she knows on the way.

Don't resent the desire of your parents to know something of the young man who calls on you. They fail in their duty to you if they lack this desire, or fail to act upon it.

Don't give your heart to a man who refers to his parents as "the old lady" and "the old man."

Don't ever outgrow the habit of your childhood of telling your mother when you get home all that happened at the party. It is more important that you tell her what happens now you are grown than that you told her when you were little.

Don't forget, if you have little, that you have more than your parents had in their youth, and that they struggled every day since you came into the world with that unselfish ambition in view.

Do You Know That—

Reminiscent of the search for a double of Sir George Alexander at the time he produced "John Chilcote, M. P." is the attempt now being made to find a physical counterpart of Miss Ethel Irving. In her forthcoming play at the Globe Theatre, London, there is a double part, in which both characters appear on the stage simultaneously. So far, although the dramatic world has been scoured, no suitable actress has been found, and an immediate engagement awaits the lady fortunate enough to resemble Miss Irving.

Experiments have been made in Germany in the use of pigeons for scouting purposes. The pigeons are provided with miniature cameras furnished with shutters that are released automatically. The birds are set free from selected points so that they fly over the enemy's fortifications. When they return home the photographs they have taken are developed, and sometimes important disclosures appear on the film.

At Loerrach, in the Black Forest, there is a lake, the bed of which remains dry from ten to fifteen year at a time, and then suddenly refills with water from subterranean springs to a depth of twelve to fifteen feet. After ten years the Eichener See, as it is called, has again commenced to fill, and has destroyed all the crops which farmers had planted on the bed.

Taken Literally

The parish tea was over, and the curate stood up to say a few words to the recipients before they dispersed. He spoke in eloquent terms of the impecuniosity of curates in general, and then went on to say, in apparently touching tones:

"Why, even as I stand before you now I have only half a shirt on my back."

A few days later the reverend gentleman received a parcel containing half-a-dozen new shirts, accompanied by a card bearing the name of one of his fair (though alas! no longer young) parishioners. At the earliest opportunity he called upon the lady and thanked her for the gift, and then proceeded to ask what had prompted the kind action.

"Why," she replied, "you told us the other night that you had only half a shirt to your back."

"True," he answered, "but the other half was in front."

Nell Brinkley Says

For the colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady
Are sisters under their skins.—RUDYARD KIPLING.

THIS I saw a week or so ago when the country was showing off its fat babies. Across the street car from me, sitting with the sweet Spring sunshine streaming in on their two blond heads—coiffed, oh, so differently, was a large plain lady with her chapeau slightly on one ear and a fat bundle snuggled beside her, and a yard or so down the red plush seat an aristocratic woman in silk and brocade, a French hat above her pretty eyebrows, white gloves, rose point lace at her throat and wrists, perfectly groomed! And the whole middle of each was hidden by the newspapers they held. I had watched. They had climbed on at the same street, had settled their silken and cotton skirts, and their four eyes had homed straight to the "pic" of a fat baby on the front page. They had both flipped over to the second page, where more babies were promised to "continue"—and there they stuck—the two of them—the same tilt to their two heads, the same unconscious gentle smile on their two faces. Under the lace-smothered breast of the "colonel's lady" rose the same heart springs that welled beneath the cotton and pearl buttons of "Judy O'Grady," "sisters under their skins."

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"I SAW Frank Condon last nite," sed Pa to Ma. "He was looking fine, and he tells me that he is making munny so fast riteing short stories that he has all he can do to spend it all. Do you know wife, Pa sed, I beeleeve I will go in for short story riteing. Condon sed it wasent hard, ownt you got started."

It may not be very hard for Mister Condon, sed Ma, but riteing is a thing peopl cant lern. It has to be born in them, sed Ma, the saim as poets & collectors are born & not made.

Anybody can be a collector, sed Pa. I dont see why you class them with poets. All a collector has to do is to collect munny.

I don't think that is vary eesy, Ma sed. My father was a lawyer for a few years, Ma sed, until he found out that most of his law bizness was to mulk collectshuns, & he never had the hart to collect. He used to call on sumbody & wen the lady of the house wud cry Pa wud go back to the creditor & say that it was no good. Poor, deer father, he is goue now, with his kind hart.

Dount be all the time talking about yure reinshuns, sed Pa. Getting back to this short-story thing, I reely meen that I am going in for it. Jest think how proud you wud be if yure mabern cud pick up the magazeens & see yure husband's big naim at the hed of short stories. You cud even reed sum of the stories aloud to them, Pa sed, & think how proud you wud be to open my mail and see nice big checks from the different magazeens.

SHE IS DOUBTFUL

The cheek part of it lissens good, sed Ma, but you have bilt so many castels in Spain without ever having to buy any furniture for the cassels that I will naturally be a litlel dubious, Ma sed, until the checks cum rolling in.

Oh, the checks will cum rolling in all rite, Pa sed. Dount worry about that part of it. & after thay cum rolling in we will put sum of them in the bank & we can sent littel Bobbie to college & talk a trip to Europe every year. Won't that be fine?

It wud be fine to talk the trip to Europe every year, sed M, but I dont think we shud go to the expense of sending Bobbie to college now. He knows too much as it is, Ma sed, & the munny tant you wud lay out for tootion cud better be used by me to fit up a nice lot of clothes to ware wen we are touring the Continent & the British Iles. Of course, sed Ma, you wuddent expeck me to go to Europe with the few clothes I have now. I want you to be proud of yure litlel wife wen you talk her abroad, Ma sed.

I suppose we can arrange all that, sed Pa, & send Bobbie to college, too.

THEY COST A LOT

I fear that we cannot do both, sed Ma. You know, deer, that women's clothes cost a awful lot more than they used to. If you have yure hart so set on sending Bobbie to college, Ma sed, I suppose I can stay at hoam & not go to Europe. Oh, deer, sed Ma, I might have known it. Then Ma beegun to cry.

There, there, dearest, sed Pa.

Yes, I might have known it, Ma sed. Stay at hoam and see the saim old cities ouver and ouver while Misses Black and Misses White are enjoying themselves with there husbands ouver in Europe. They go every year & you bet they dount have to worry about what they are going to ware, eether. Then Ma cried sum moar.

If you go on like that, sed Pa, I won't write any short stories at all.

Nobody wud print them if you rote them, said Ma.

DRAKE'S CAKE

The Superior Sex

By FRANCES I. GARSIDE

A MAN is proud to refer to the temptations he resisted, but gets mad if reminded of those to which he succumbed.

No man is strictly truthful when with a sympathetic woman, adding two feet to the stature of the giant that attacked him every time he tells the story.

Some men never wait on themselves except when they are mad at their wives.

When a man suffers from insomnia he wakes up everybody else in the house to prove it.

When a married man has a good time he has to deny it.

Men say they are not themselves when tempted by anger into betraying what they really are.

As soon as a man outgrows a foolish notion and drops it a younger man comes along and picks it up.

When a man talks to guests at his home he tells things his wife had been trying for weeks to get out of him.

It makes no difference how independent a man is, there are times when he wants some one to "Poor-little-lamb" him.

The only time a man has any desire to let his wife know how he is doing financially is when he is losing money.

It never surprised a man to be admired, but no man ever lived long enough to know why any one dislikes him.

When a man is a big talker he has to do a good deal of denying.

Even when a man prays for delivery from temptation he is telling himself that it isn't going to hurt him to take a look at it.

Every man boasts of his self-control, though there never was a man who had so much he could hold a lead pencil in his hand without marking with it.

Too Fat

"What has become of the big man who used to beat the bass drum?" asked the private of the drum major.

"He left us about three months ago."

"Good drummer, too, wasn't he?"

"Yes, very good; but he got so fat that when he marched he couldn't hit the drum in the middle."

Hellen Calls Yankee Women Handsomest

PARIS, June 6.—Paul Helleu, the artist, says American women are the most beautiful in the world. He has just returned from New York and his ideas on the subject are decided. He is making an album of the prettiest women in Paris, New York, London and Buenos Ayres.

"Among the American women," the artist said today, "we find the greatest quality of beauty. Beauty is common to them. In every class, on Fifth avenue and in factories, we find that their good looks prevail. They are as well dressed as Parisians and far healthier.

"To find a pretty woman in Paris one must go in search of her. In New York she is to be seen everywhere."

LATEST FROM TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS

Stock markets had a better tone around the opening, which was largely due to better support for Americans in Europe. Canadian Pacific was the leader in the early upturn in New York. There was an urgent demand for the stock there. Most of the important railroads and industrials rose when Canadian Pacific advanced.

Some of them receded during the first hour, but at the end of that period Erie at 24½, was up 7-8. Canadian Pacific at 219 was up 21-2. Reading 7-8 at 165 1-8. Northern Pacific 3-8 at 110, Amalgamated 1-4 at 67 7-8, Lehigh Valley 1-4 at 150 1-2, American Smelting 7-8 at 61, Union Pacific 7-8 at 144 1-2, Steel 1-2 at 54 5-8 and Southern Pacific 1-4 at 93. At 57 1-2 Chesapeake and Ohio was off 1, American Can was 3-4 lower at 25 3-4 and Missouri Pacific dropped 1-2 lose to 28 3-4.

In this market Boston Elevated sold at 88, off 1, and other declines included ⅝ for Calumet & Arizona, 1 for Nevada Consolidated, ⅝ for Lake and ½ for Indiana, while Copper Range, ex-dividend, was down a point.

Sentiment was confirmed a little by the statement that Beer, Sondheimer & Co. will ship $200,000 in gold bars to Antwerp tomorrow on the steamship Kroonland.

London Helped New York at Start.

The New York market was supported at the opening by heavy buying by bargain hunters in London where American stocks showed a rallying disposition as soon as trading began. The early strength of Canadian Pacific gave the great British market a better tone. Liquidation is reported to have ceased there.

At the opening in New York the tendency was upward and advances ranged from fractions up to 2 points.

In spite of the Senator Hitchcock's amendment and Attorney-General McReynold's proposition to tax tobacco factories, Liggett & Myers sold 2 higher. Among the earliest gains were: Amalgamated ⅜, Steel common ⅜, Union Pacific ⅝, Reading ⅝, Southern Pacific ⅜, Atchison ⅛, B. & O. ⅛, B. R. T. ⅛, Canadian Pacific 2⅜, International Harvester 1, Chesapeake & Ohio, which sold ex-dividend of 1½, opened at 57½, against 58½ at the close last night. In half an hour it advanced ¼. Southern Pacific began ⅜ lower, but recovered and made a net fractional gain.

Union Pacific shared at the end of mid an hour. Mexican Petroleum was one of the weakest issues, declining ¾. Erie began ⅛ up, but alunded.

Canadian Pacific in demand both here and in London. London reported that it was being bought there by Continental houses. "Some traders," it was said in New York, "professed belief that the crisis had been passed; others think that stocks will sag for the balance of the Summer on account of the scarcity of investment money."

The Curb was weak.

Tax to Destroy Tobacco Trust.

In speaking about his amendment to the Underwood tariff bill, the amendment being designed "to tax the Tobacco Trust to death," Senator Hitchcock said it would not only raise additional revenue from the overgrown tobacco concerns, but it would so handicap them as to permit successful competition from smaller ones now rapidly being crushed out by the monopoly.

"Roughly speaking," he said, "this additional or progressive excise tax would not reach a manufacturer until he controlled about 25 per cent. of the total production of a class of tobacco."

If the huge tobacco concerns were to continue their production under this tax, the American Tobacco Company would suffer an additional annual tax of $7,500,000 and Liggett & Myers $3,100,000.

Liquidation Scares Speculators.

Louis Aubert, Paris financial correspondent for Hearst newspapers, cables that French speculators are greatly disappointed because the conclusion of the Balkan war has brought no change in the public's mood. They are also scared by the liquidation on every foreign market, for they had already started to reduce their commitments.

"The public," he says, "has for some time been selling good old-fashioned securities to subscribe to new issues. The Prince receivership, which hits especially the large class of investors with small means, gave terrific forces to the double source of liquidation. The market is now semi-demoralized. This state of affairs is generally overdone. In London there are too many new issues of undigested securities; in Berlin, a recession in the steel trade, while here the main reason is an insufficiency of ready money."

London Copper Quotations.

The London copper warrants market opened steadily with spot unchanged and futures up 2. 8d.

It is generally expected that the statement for June by the Copper Producers' Association, which is due on Monday, will show a decrease in stocks. The producers' estimates that the surplus will amount to 10,000,000 pounds, another that it will reach 20,000,000. Wall street has not sold a little electrolytic as low as 15 cents a pound yesterday, producers still asked from 15¾ to 15⅝, but report neither sales nor inquiries.

During the week ending yesterday, copper exports showed a comparative decrease of 2,820 tons.

Financial News in Brief.

Governor Hooper, State Treasurer Hickson and Secretary of State Rhode, members of a refunding board, circulated Wall Street today to sell $10,000,000 of Tennessee State bonds. "We are not proud," said the Governor, "and will not stand on our dignity."

President Madge of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific road says recent rains have greatly improved the crop outlook and that business in the Middle West is better than it was a year ago.

The latest statement from Washington about the Underwood tariff is that when the bill is reported by the Senate Finance Committee it will provide for free wool and mohair, free sugar, free sheep, free agricultural products, free agricultural implements, free lumber, free steel rails, free iron ore, free ferromanganese, free steel ingots and billets, free print paper, free five stock and free meats.

Edward Morris, the packer, owns Chicago bank stocks to the amount of $8,750,000. J. Ogden Armour comes next on the list of largest individual holders.

An average interest rate of 4.87 per cent. will be received by purchasers of the $27,000,000 short term notes of the State of New York disposed of yesterday. The over-subscription was approximately $9,000,000.

FORBES CALLS JAMES J. HILL GREAT LEADER

By B. C. FORBES.

Business Editor of The American.

Romance has not departed from business; the door of opportunity may be stiffer to open, but it CAN be opened, has been opened and is being opened.

The requisites for success are humble birth, men in thirst for knowledge, an enormous appetite for hard work, the grit of a stoic, patience infinite and an understanding of human nature.

The AMERICAN has been fortunate in inducing the leading railroad men in the United States to vote on "The twelve greatest railroad men in America." All the lists have been received and tabulated, and for the last few days, between a few other duties, I've been studying the career of each of the successful twelve. Hence these opening sentences.

The names of the twelve greatest will be published in Sunday's AMERICAN, along with a photograph and brief biographical notes outlining each man's strongest points.

A series of sketches will follow on this page. They will in each case reveal the man. They will deal less with railroading than with the railroaders.

The first, James J. Hill, for example, will be portrayed. Not one of the incidents to be told has ever been in print. It is an entertaining story of a man that will be presented to AMERICAN readers. I thought I knew J. J. Hill, but I didn't until I began to collect material for this series of articles. The first time I talked with Mr. Hill I was convinced he was the greatest man I had ever met in this country. That judgment stands. Mr. Hill in his home is even a finer character than in his office or in his railroad car.

Some of our other railroad giants are also men of intense human interest, men who have qualities that the public little know or suspect.

The AMERICAN is rather proud of the fact that one of the twelve, a veteran of veterans, a railroad manager of the old school, has for the first time in his life, supplied a photograph and autobiographical sketch for publication. He is a most interesting personality, little known to New Yorkers or this section, but recognized in railroad circles as a man among men.

Nothing more interesting than the life stories of these railroad leaders has ever been printed on this page.

The first sketch, that of James J. Hill, will appear early next week.

The Governor's Veto of the Bill Impairing Electric Light and Power Stocks and Bonds Should Stand

The Public Franchise League has since its birth been the vigilant sentinel of this community, warning it against the approach of danger from the aggressions and deceptions of the public service corporations.

Its action is typical on Senate Bill Number 514, which would impair the security of stock and bonds of Electric Light and Power Companies now in the hands of investors and would permit very small minority interests to control important public service corporations, leaving open to these minority interests the temptation to exercise their control both against the public and their corporation interests.

Universal experience has demonstrated that where minority interests control a public service corporation, that control is likely to be exercised for the benefit of the minority at the sacrifice both of the majority and of the public. The management is likely to have some other interest greater than their interest in the corporation they control, and for the sake of their greater interest the temptation is overwhelming for them to sacrifice their lesser interest.

By permitting a corporation to issue twice as much preferred stock as common stock and by permitting it also to withhold from the preferred stock the voting power a man or a group of men owning scarcely more than one-twentieth interest in the corporation can control it.

The AMERICAN quotes from the communication of the Public Franchise League to the Governor concerning his good veto of this bad bill:

> "The bill is a remarkable production, misleading in its title and language and demoralizing in its provisions, as you point out very clearly in your message. It is difficult to believe that the Legislature will be so regardless of the interests of investors and the general public as to make this measure law in the face of your veto and the equally strong opposition of all the members of the Gas and Electric Light Commission and the Bank Commissioner."

The passage of such a bill as this is an example of the kind of work which the present House of Representatives is doing. WE COMMEND THIS HOUSE TO THE GENTLEMEN WHO ARE OPPOSED TO THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM AND WHO THINK THAT WE ARE REPRESENTED BY OUR REPRESENTATIVES.

You Must Do Your Own Climbing

The Steps Are High and Broad, and the Climb Is a Long One—to REAL SUCCESS.

Copyright, 1913, by American-Journal Examiner

This is the country of success and we hear endless talk about it.

These talks vary from simple advice concerning a man like Lincoln, who had only a few books and a few chances, but made the best use of them he could, all the way up to the complicated recipes for succeeding that are given out by the gentlemen of the insurance companies and the get-rich schemes.

This newspaper has discussed success often, yet it takes the subject up again today, for the young men among our readers, and the young women as well, are writing constantly for advice or for suggestions.

Certain men whom we call successful, by which we mean that they have got MONEY, have "succeeded" without the quality of industry. They are the gamblers, the Wall Street geniuses, or others who with tricks have got the better of their fellow men, BUT THEY ARE NOT SUCCESSFUL.

Men of the same stamp have succeeded, even without sobriety or honesty.

But even such success as theirs demands certain qualities. They must have, for instance, at least temporarily, SELF-DENIAL. They must know how to hold themselves back, husband their resources, keep themselves in hand until they shall have achieved the particular object or the particular sum which they have in mind.

To tell a young man that he NEEDS certain qualities is wasting his time and your own—except as you may direct his attention TO THE POSSIBILITY OF DEVELOPING IN HIMSELF the essentials of success.

The late Collis P. Huntington, asked to advise a young man, said: "Take ten thousand dollars and go into the business of raising rubber trees." The young man didn't have ten thousand dollars.

Mr. Huntington said: "Well, go and get it before you come to me for advice."

The great railroad man's attitude is very much like that of the ORDINARY adviser of the young. He says, "Be honest, be industrious, be self-denying, be courageous, patient, sober"—but he does not tell him how he CAN BE these things.

To make a real success you must have, first of all, INDUSTRY—the faculty for hard work. That quality is greater than all others put together. AND YOU CAN CULTIVATE THAT QUALITY IN YOURSELF.

Map out what you are going to do each day, AND DO IT. Never let yourself get into the habit of leaving a thing UNFINISHED. It is hard; for some it is almost impossible. But if you WILL IT, you can make yourself a hard worker eventually. You must do that—that is the FIRST step to the real success.

SELF-DENIAL is especially a matter of self-education.

Instead of putting your mind on the question, "How can I amuse myself or dress myself?" say to yourself, "WHAT CAN I DO WITHOUT?"

Self-denial is not important simply because it saves your money—it is especially important because IT SAVES YOUR TIME AND YOUR VITALITY. Sobriety is, of course, a part of self-denial. If you don't smoke excessively or at all, if you don't drink excessively or at all—you save money and you save vitality. If you don't pay foolish attention to dress—only neatness and common sense are necessary to success—you save the time and the thought that many men put on worthless worrying about their personal appearance.

"He Swept All Before Him"

GIFTS

By William F. Kirk

"WHAT are gifts?" asked a gifted one
As he idled beneath the noonday sun.
"Youth is mine, and a wondrous wit
That won me a seat where the mighty sit.
Here on the hill I stand to-day
Ready to toss my gifts away.
Sick of my start in the sordid race
I throw my gifts in the Giver's face—
Youth and Genius and Wealth and Grace!"

The Giver smiled at the fiery youth
And left the gifts where they lay,
For He knew this thing to be the truth,
That after the close of day
Again and again men seek in vain
For the gifts they have thrown away.

A Substitute for War

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1913, by American-Journal-Examiner

It has oftentimes been urged that war gives men so much occupation and is productive of so many industries that its absence from earth would produce untold poverty.

And the race would deteriorate from lack of the strong stimulus which war supplies for the exercise of the entire physical and mental powers.

This argument has always seemed shallow and unstable. Professor James offered an excellent substitute for the rugged training of military life in the following suggestion:

"If now there were, instead of military conscription, a conscription of the whole youthful population to form for two or three years a part of the army enlisted against adverse Nature, the injustice would tend to be evened out, and numerous other benefits to the commonwealth would follow.

"The military ideals of hardihood and discipline would be wrought into the growing fibre of the people; no one would remain blind, as the luxurious classes are now blind, to man's real relations to the globe he lives on, and to the permanently solid and hard foundations of his higher life.

"To coal and iron mines, to freight trains, to fishing fleets in December, to dishwashing, clothes washing and window washing, to road building and tunnel making, to foundries and stoke-holes, and to the frames of skyscrapers, to telegraph-pole climbing, would our gilded youth be drafted off, according to their choice, to get the childishness knocked out of them, and to come back into society with healthier sympathies and soberer ideas.

"They would have paid their blood tax, done their part in the immemorial human warfare against Nature; they would tread the earth more proudly; the women would value them more highly; they would be better fathers and teachers of the following generation.

"Such a conception, with the state of public opinion that would have required it, and the moral fruits it would bear, would preserve in the midst of a pacific civilization the military party is so afraid of seeing disappear in peace. We would get toughness without callousness, authority with as little criminal cruelty as possible, and painful work done cheerily, because the duty is temporary and threatens not, as now, to degrade the whole remainder of one's life."

Foremost and best of all the occupations named above is road building and all its wonderful ramifications, which would keep armies of men busy in the outdoor world, and which would serve to develop strong muscles and tough sinews, furnish fresh blood to the lungs and keep the mind occupied with wholesome ideals.

Were all the money used in preparation for war devoted to this purpose, and were all men obliged to aid in its execution, what a world would our America become!

What is the matter with the world that it cannot see the great ideal contained in the vision of the auto highways, uniting all parts of America by one silver chain?

And add to this a law such as was suggested by Professor James, and we have our worst problems of the age solved.

YOU

YOU told me that the dream was o'er;
I told you I was glad.
I hungered for the days of yore
When I was but a lad.
Our years of pleasure and of pain
Have vanished like the dew;
But if I had to start again
I'd start again with you.
Now you are there and I am here,
As parted as the Poles,
Scoffing the things we once held dear,
Like two sardonic souls.
We two in time shall know Death's reign
And float the dark night through;
But when I have to live again,
I'll live again for you.

You Must Do Your Own Climbing

The most important in the line of self-denial perhaps is TO MAKE YOURSELF NOT WORRY ABOUT WHAT OTHERS THINK OF YOU. Try to earn the approval of those who are worth while, and dismiss from your mind the opinion of the crowd that means nothing to you and can do nothing for you. More men waste time and energy and worry on the opinions of others than would make them successful if they could be indifferent to public opinion.

Unfortunately, enthusiasm is one of the qualities most difficult to cultivate. It is almost a part of a man's own self, like his dark hair or regular features, or wide shoulders. Yet even enthusiasm CAN be cultivated, and it should be cultivated. Begin by getting out of your mind the critical, complaining, dissatisfied feelings. That is like pulling the weeds out of a field.

If you can get out of your own brain the foolish feeling of complaint, of mortified vanity, you will be clearing the field for enthusiasm to grow.

Enthusiasm is largely a matter of vitality, health and strength. Get up in the morning after eight hours' good sleep, and you will be enthusiastic—ready to attack any proposition. Get up with five hours' sleep and a night foolishly spent, and you will have no strength for enthusiasm. Cultivate your strength, save it, and train yourself to look enthusiastically and hopefully at the world, scorning its difficulties.

Whatever you do HAS GOT TO BE DONE ABSOLUTELY BY THE EXERCISE OF YOUR OWN WILL POWER; IF YOU DECEIVE YOURSELF, BLAMING OTHERS INSTEAD OF YOURSELF, YOU WILL NEVER GET AHEAD. YOU MUST BE YOUR OWN MOST SEVERE JUDGE. Remember that it is not sufficient to WISH for success or to ADMIRE the qualities that make success. You must develop those qualities and use them.
